| Work distribution | <ul style="list-style-type: none">At the beginning of the meeting, each person presented valid information based on their own interviews. Over the weekend, the five of US interviewed a total of 19 students. (Details of the interview are in the Markdown file)We discuss special cases such as EG/IB because they have multiple minor specializations.We discussed that the school' s website can present complete electives and required courses for some majors, but some majors do not present optional courses, also, there is no indication on the catalogue | | |

|---------------|---|-----------|----------|
| Action points | whether the course is optional or required. The current idea is to present the module info on our website consistent with the school's official website. We will ask Matt this question at the next formal meeting. | | |
| | <ul style="list-style-type: none">The class diagram will be ready next week to show Matt if there is a problem. | | |
| | Yongjing QI: Prototype continues to evolve. Managing GitHub. | | |
| | Yifei SHAO: Survey on other school website. | | |
| | Yuke GAO: Assemble the interview into a Markdown file. Refine the time plan. | | |
| | Zhihang ZHU: Survey on technique tools | | |
| | Every member: Organize your interviews into a Markdown file. Write your interim Report by next week and after integration give it to Matt. Divide up the work after the technical tool is found. | | |
