Course (Module) Catalogue

Information about courses (modules) taught at the University of Nottingham. Where their programme of study permits, students will have the opportunity to select courses.

Note: The details presented here should be regarded as the most correct and most up to date version. Should there be a discrepancy between the information here and the printed reference course (module) catalogues, the version presented here should be regarded as the correct version. This is especially the case when courses (modules) are modified or withdrawn.
